

EMILY A. LONG, Esq.

Attorney at Law

Practice Areas:

*Community Association Counsel
Civil Litigation*

Education:

*University of Wisconsin-Madison
(2004)
University of Wisconsin
Law School (2008)*

Emily Long joined Epsten, APC, in the summer of 2019. Prior to her work at Epsten, she worked at a law firm specializing in estate planning, as well as trust and estate litigation and administration in Palm Desert, CA. Emily began her legal career as an attorney in Milwaukee, WI, where she worked for a small law firm that built the capacity of nonprofit community development corporations dedicated to economic revitalization work, including building affordable housing. She moved to the Coachella Valley in 2012.

Emily is a proud graduate of public schools and universities from which she has received a Bachelor of Arts Degree with high honors in Sociology and Women's Studies from University of Wisconsin-Madison, and a Juris Doctorate degree from the University of Wisconsin Law School. While attending law school, Emily was a Senior Articles Editor of the Wisconsin Journal of Law, Gender and Society and specialized in transactional and community economic development law. She also won honors including the State of Wisconsin's Public Interest Law Student of the Year, the Dane County Pro-Bono Law Student of the Year, and clerked for the Honorable Patrick J. Fiedler, Judge, Dane County Circuit Court.